What excites you most about your research?

Exploring a contemporary issue that impacts us all to some extent and considering how to be more mindful about our digital technology use.

What inspired your approach to research?

I'm inspired by working in rural communities and responding to environmental concerns that impact individuals in those areas.

What was your biggest "oops!" moment in the research process? When booking flights between Hawaiian islands, I somehow had two connecting flights through the same airport.
