

You know the power of libraries to inspire, educate, and empower.

Put that power to work as a Friend of the Library to support our mission:

To facilitate access to information resources that support learning, teaching, and research; to provide training for effective and ethical use of these resources; and to support the Campbell community through a state-of-the-art academic environment.

Our non-profit Friends group is a cadre of ardent supporters who, for more than four decades, have shown their commitment to the library through annual dues and special gifts. Friends have helped to establish endowments and bolster our circulating collection. They have funded new technologies and enhanced our facilities. In addition, we offer volunteer opportunities for Friends at special events and in behind-the-scenes work.

However you choose to be a Friend, your support will be an asset greatly appreciated by Campbell students, faculty, and staff alike.

As a Friend of Wiggins Memorial Library, you will be an invaluable resource for students on their journey toward Leading with Purpose.

BENEFITS

Joining Friends of the Library gives you access to some of Wiggins Library's best resources.

Borrowing Privileges

Check out an unlimited number of books, three DVDs plus one video game at a time, music CDs, and selected technology items. Take advantage of several special collections as well (see Library Collections, right).

Annual Dinner

Enjoy an annual fall dinner with other supporters plus Campbell faculty, staff, and students. Each year, a distinguished guest speaker addresses the Friends on a topic related to a current library special event or exhibit.

Newsletter

Stay up-to-date with the Friends newsletter, Newsline, where you'll read about library outreach and the far-reaching impact of our instructional faculty. For a sampling of past issues, visit library.campbell.edu/friends.

VOLUNTEER

Get to know the library and the students we serve firsthand by volunteering at special annual or seasonal events. If interested, contact Ms. Marie Berry at (910) 893-1762.

LIBRARY COLLECTIONS

General Collection

Check out books, popular and educational DVDs, video games, and other library materials. While on campus, take advantage of our inviting Periodicals Reading Room and reference sections, and utilize a wide range of e-resources and library databases such as Naxos Music Library, Mango Languages, and Academic Search Complete.

Theological Reference Collection

Local clergy and the spiritually curious may be particularly interested in exploring our curated collection of essential commentaries, dictionaries, concordances, lexica, and other theological resources.

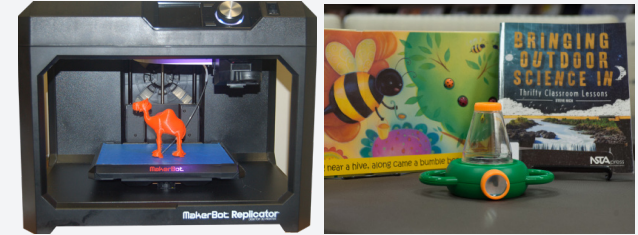

HOW TO JOIN

Choose the annual giving level that is right for you:

Contributing: $50	Corporate: $400
Sustaining: $75	Life: $1,000*
Patron: $150	Campbell student: $5

Join at library.campbell.edu/friends, or by contacting Ms. Marie Berry at (910) 893-1762, or via email to berrym@campbell.edu.

*Life membership can be paid in four $250 annual payments or payroll deductions.

Curriculum Materials/Media Collection (CMMC)

Local teachers, homeschoolers, and parents, especially, will find a variety of resources here: a strong juvenile and young adult collection; teaching tools such as models, puppets, and games; educational technology; and audiovisuals. Are you a tinkerer? Explore our Idea Lab/Makerspace, which houses a 3D printer, poster printers, die-cut center, and more.

Digital Collections

History buffs and alumni, dig into Campbell's legacy through digitized student newspapers, catalogs and yearbooks, commencement exercises and sermons, from as far back as the 1880s. Available at library.campbell.edu/digitalcollections.
